

Keeping Kiddies Off the Street

They Knit, Sew, Draw and Enjoy Dainties

Miss Dalton, shown in the insert, is one of the educators and instigators of a general movement to care for youngsters after school hours, while their mothers are at work earning a living. The children are taught to knit, make their own clothing, draw, cook and bake. They are given coffee and dainties every afternoon.

HOW TO PICK PAYING HENS

Do you know which chickens in your flock are producing enough eggs to pay for their feed?

Can you tell the hen that lays six times that number, many of them in the season of high prices?

Can you tell the steady layer from the "boarder" in your flock without first opening her and looking at the egg sack?

Those are some of the questions that puzzle poultry farmers the country over.

The hen that produces three or four eggs a week, and is on the job nearly the year around is the hen that is always hustling, according to J. G. Hulpin of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin.

She is the first hen off the roost in the morning and the last on at night. She is always foraging; following the plow in the spring in search of grubs and cut-worms, roaming the woods and fields during the summer, devouring many injurious insects and their larvae, and busily gleaning about the threshing machine or gorging herself on weed seeds in the fall. She is the hen that is unfraid, yet nervous; the hen with the bright eye and the scarlet comb. She is always singing as she works and is generally at work scratching away for dear life making her own living out of God's good green earth. She goes often to the water tank and drinks deeply for much of the eggs she produces is water.

Women May Be in Demand as Jurors in Suffrage States

The reduction through the war in the number of men available for service as jurors and the fact that women in this state have obtained the suffrage, suggest that before long we shall have women in the jury boxes, says the New York Herald.

If the next legislature makes women eligible it will be interesting to see whether they will willingly serve or whether they will be like the men who daily beseege the office of the commissioner of jurors seeking exemption and resorting to questionable devices in the attempt to obtain it.

In the case of a woman on trial for crime women jurors would have a hundred clues to character and conduct that are imperceptible to men. And when passing upon one of their own sex there would be no danger of women being so emotionally lenient as men have shown themselves to be.

Fashion Hints.

Chenille embroidery vies with wool embroidery in decorating the new dresses.

Bags to match the new winter hat! Dull wood brown—a new color arrival.

Adjustable fish tail veils—have you one?

Wool jersey is still the ideal sport suit fabric.

Phaid and stripes for sports wear.

Detachable tunics—a new note.

Sailor Lad Tricks.

Her sailor brother has come home and taught her a number of tricks about the laundry. He lays his white trousers on a board and brushes them with salt water, but, not having any of the ocean wave, he makes a solution of water and salt answer the purpose. She was so delighted with the result, she laid out the trousers, but she tried in vain to wash them.

A Bilious Attack.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clear out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter—adv.

THE DEVIL IN BAD COMPANY

The Kaiser met the Devil in an agitated way, and the Devil stopped his prancing to hear what Bill would say. Bill approached him quite contritely, for he wanted something done; he would make his last endeavor to enlist him with the U. S. A.

"So he said: 'My dear good Satan, I'm in trouble, I'm afraid; if I do not work together, sure as hell my grave is made. I have worried and I've wondered, and the Huns stand in dismay, when they hear the preparation over in the U. S. A.'"

"I had thought that Gott was with me, but of late He's hard as bone, so I've come for your assistance and we'll out Him from His throne. Now dear Satan, won't you help me? We're a team that would work well, and when the devil was ever we'll own Heaven, Earth and Hell."

"I surely am disgusted with the Gott up in the skies; instead of helping me, He's helping the Allies. Just say the word and I'll abide; you come along, but I'll decide; and tonight at just 11, I'll call out a string of Zeppelins and we'll make a raid on Heaven."

All this while old Satan wondered, scratched his head and then he pondered. When he found his equilibrium, after Bill had gotten through, he addressed Bill Hohenzollern in these words, serene but true:

"You're a dirty, lowbrow ingrate; you're the worst I ever knew; you're dippy, talking flighty, and to win your greatest blunder you would wreck your God Almighty!"

"You for years have had a notion that you had a regular call, and some day your rule in Heaven, but, Oh! Bill, you'll get a fall. And this fall is not far distant; it is coming sure as hell, for the Allies have your measure and they'll fix you good and well."

"You have stooped to the lowest level; you have broken every rule; all the world is now against you; you're a great big jackass fool."

"I don't like your talk of methods, I'm the Devil, that is true, but you've wrecked and butchered millions, and I have no use for you."

"Look at Belgium, poor bleeding Belgium; look at France and England, too, all because you had a notion that the world you could subdue."

"For punching, I've a reputation, but I've watched you all the while, and for downright oily meanness you have the Devil skinned a mile."

"All the fire and the brimstone, all the groans and shrieks of hell, you have equaled and surpassed them and you know it mightily well."

"Now, Kaiser Wilhelm, listen; you'll not finish what you've started; the Hohenzollern family and throne will soon have parted."

"You heard from President Wilson, he told you what he'd do; but you thought he was only bluffing—now you know he's coming through."

"Over the top they're training soldiers, and oh, my God, how they can fight; they've got your carcass because they're fighting for the right."

"When the bugle call is sounded, you'll have no time to pray, for they are coming on in millions and they hail from the U. S. A."—Wright Conroy, the Los Angeles Times.

War-Savings Stamps Sell at Rate in Excess of Savings Bank Accumulations

Treasury receipts from the sale of war-savings stamps are running at the rate of $11,000,000 a week. Savings bank deposits in the last few years have been increasing at the rate of $700,000 a business day. Treasury receipts show the American people are putting the surplus savings at the service of the nation through war-savings stamps at a rate far in excess of pre-war savings bank accumulations. Two billion dollars of war-savings securities will be issued. If these are all sold this year the treasury will receive about $1,680,000,000, and at the end of five years the Government will repay the loan together with $320,000,000 in interest.

$100 REWARD, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one case of disease and ailment has been able to all its ailments to this.
